

ART: "A THING OF BE

Mr. Guel Dostal demonstrates the techniques of water color painting.

The addition of a spacious art wing provided new opportunities for those who wish to study in this field.

First year art students, eagerly visualizing the production of masterpieces comparable to those of Rembrandt, developed their abilities through projects in sculpture, portraiture, and cartooning. Meanwhile, the advanced students, less optimistic, but no less enthusiastic, experimented with wire sculpture, pencil technique, water color, oils, and new approaches to the drawing and painting of objects.

Due to the diligent work of Mr. Dostal and Mrs. Thornton and to the artistic capabilities of Wayzara's students, an atmosphere creativity advanced.

A masterpiece assembly line. Pat Hayes, Brian Cosgrove.

Lynn Person and Mary Martin creating papier-mache figurines.