

The Senior Year; A Time for Setting Precedence

V. P. Pat Bauer, Treas. Dusty Macgregor, Pres. Tim Hawthorne, Sec. Bonnie McCannel

The Class of '68 initiated many new and stimulating programs. They were the first ones to receive the full benefits of the auditorium for a full year. A video tape machine was used in the classes to record live performances and television shows for later use. For the first time the Senior Class math class had regular access to Control Data's 3200 computer. Several trips were made to the Computer Training Center while other programs were mailed in weekly. Wayzata's Seniors joined the students of North High in an exchange which brought about a better understanding between the two groups. The football team initiated what they hoped to be an annual series between Wayzata and Crosby Ironton. Mr. Fraser's idea came to life when Wayzata presented it's first one-act play festival. For the first time Wayzata's students were treated to an exhibit depicting the greatness of Oliver Evans.

Of course seniors participated in many traditional activities. Again seniors had the opportunity of listening to symposiums on pressing problems on race, poverty, and urban affairs.

It is hoped that many of the fine traditions and newly initiated programs will be continued. Wayzata Seniors have left their mark.
