

Two weeks before December 15, 1963, the majority of us worked hard on the Christmas program with the help of Sister Marie Inez. Sister was very patient and helpful to us all. If it was not for her, our program would not have been possible. "Silent Night" was the title of our program.

Bill O'Melia narrated the play and there were solos and parts that were sung by everyone. Scott McKenzie and Cherie Reid performed together as parents and sang a two part solo. Bill Scheller, Mike Thielges and Jerry Hawkinson were the three kings. Sandy Anderson was Father Mohrand and Tom Corbett was Hans Gruber. They sang together. Cece Hughes portrayed the Blessed Virgin; Bruce Kerber, Joseph; and Gary Butler, the innkeeper. They all sang together. Debbie Duepner, Shirley Hunz and Sue Meehan sang a short trio part. Alicia Hughes and Jenny Stein played the parts of two little girls.

On the day of the performance, about 12 boys and girls were sick with the flu, but we still did an exceptionally good job.
